ON THE MOVE

Some faint conception of the problems involved in the present invasion is seen in the fact that for every soldier who is sent into France approximately 10 tons of equipment must go with him.

And that isn't all. Another ton of food, clothing and ammunition must be sent to him every month. In all, some half million different items are necessary to carry on the war. These range all the way from bullets to bulldozers. They include not only weapons but recreational equipment. Many items GI Joe may never see or even know of their existence. But each one has a definite purpose, and each contributes to the winning of battles.

Moving all these supplies and equipment to the spots where they are urgently needed, and doing it often under most adverse circumstances, is one of the great dramas of the war.

In this invasion, our ships land on beaches far from established transportation lines. But the supplies go forward just the same. Modern, motorized equipment is the answer. American-built trucks have successfully covered virtually every type of terrain from deep mud to shifting sands. They are now doing a job which no other type of transport can handle.

Now that we have reached our full military strength, now that we have the necessary equipment and the means of getting it to where it will do the enemy the least good, we need no longer worry about the chant that haunted us in the early days of the war, "Too little, too late."

We imagine that Hitler is now muttering, "Too much, too soon."

WORLD ORGANIZATION

Winston Churchill marshalled his able vocabulary to give the House of Commons a review of the war situation and to discuss his idea of a "world organization" designed to keep the future peace.

On this latter point he said, "We must arm our world organization and make sure it has overwhelming military power."

Most of us will be inclined to agree with Churchill that force should be used to back up law and order in the family of nations. But we are aware that this military power is not the complete answer. Britain, Russia and the United States will control the bulk of the armed strength and this should be sufficient to enforce the peace as long as these three nations agree. But what happens if they don't agree? It is not likely that any one or two of them would act without the support and approval of the others.

Back in 1936, when Hitler marched into the Rhineland, the British and French forces together might have stopped him. But Paris and London couldn't agree on a course of action. The opportunity to act was lost and the Austrian housepainter went on from there to set the world ablaze.

The point is: Military power can preserve the peace only insofar as the big nations are in accord amongst themselves. Hence the real need is not so much for armed might as it is for mutual understanding.

CONSUMING DESIRE ESSENTIAL

The United States came into being because a majority of our public leaders and the people were consumed with a genuine desire to be free men and the masters of government. The world has progressed because groups of people had an undying faith in certain philosophies of religion or human conduct in which they believed.

How many people in the United States today are uncomprising in their desire to retain personal liberty and democracy within the framework of our Republic? Of late years, there have been too many politicians insinuating that as a nation we have outgrown the constitutional ideals on which this country was founded.

A majority of our people must have a consuming desire to retain independence at all costs, just as our forefathers had the desire to gain it at all costs, or the United States as we have known it will be but an era in the history books—bureaucracy will have supplanted democracy.

As a nation, we cannot survive as free men if we submit to being the "tended herd" of a socialized government toward which we have been rapidly drifting.

WHAT DOES FREEDOM MEAN?

Early in 1939 an amendment to the Oregon Constitution was proposed to the effect that, "any contract of employment which denies to any individual or individuals the right to earn a living without being compelled to be a member of a labor union, hereby is declared to be against public policy and void." The proposal was dropped because of the war.

With the war's end nearer, however, California this year will vote on a similar proposal, the petition already having been filed.

It seems ridiculous in a free country to have to ask legislative authority for the right to work without first joining and paying an organization. But apparently that is the only way to assure freedom of work opportunity to returning soldiers.

"The Merry Widow," International Favorite, Will Open In San Francisco

An international favorite, "The Merry Widow" will waltz across the stage of the Opera House for a three week extended engagement beginning Monday night, July 10, climaxing at one and the same time the current rebirth of interest in operetta, and the career of the world's most popular musical comedy romance.

As charmingly melodious and lighthearted as when it was first presented 38 years ago, this latest New Opera company production of Franz Lehar's light opera established a long-run record in New York with Jan Kiepura starring in his first musical comedy role.

The lilting tale about the debonair Prince who travels to Paris to court the rich and charming widow, goes back to 1905 when it had its world premiere at Vienna's famous Theatre an der Wien. Throughout "The Merry Widow" there is comedy of the gay, continental type and romance that is intensified by the wonderful music of Lehar. "Vilia," "Girls, Girls, Girls," "I'm Going to Maxim's" and the famous "Merry Widow Waltz" are songs that will never die, that have delighted the world for years.

The Opera House production will star Jan Kiepura, and the same company which won acclaim for a solid year on Broadway featuring droll English comedian, Melville Cooper, and including Wilma Spence, Ruth Matteson, Lisette Verea, Malcolm Lee Begga, John Garris and the entire New York cast. Tickets now on sale at the Opera Box Office, City of Paris.

Soy Griddle Cakes

By Frances Lee Barton

THIS is the "new food" generation. We are eating dozens of foods unknown to our grandparents and our parents — and many that were foreign to us a few years ago.

Some of these foods were popular in foreign lands centuries ago, and are just being appreciated by us. Others are absolutely new foods.

It's a wise woman who seeks these new foods and chooses from them those that please and nourish her family. Have you used soy flour in your griddle cake batter? If not, by all means try the recipe below:

Soy Griddle Cakes

½ cup soy flour; 1 cup all-purpose flour; 2 teaspoons double-acting baking powder; ¾ teaspoon salt; 2 tablespoons sugar; 1 egg, well beaten; 1½ cups milk.

Sift flours once, measure, add baking powder, salt, and sugar, and sift again. Combine egg and milk; add gradually to flour, beating only until smooth. Bake on hot, greased griddle. Serve with butter and maple-flavored syrup. Makes 12 to 15 griddle cakes.

READING & WRITING

BY Edwin Seaver AND Robin McKown

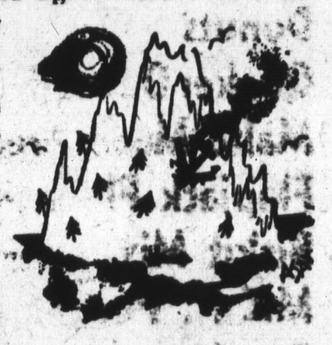
The war is creating a new kind of book, books that represent the combined efforts of men of action and writing men. In this category is "War Below Zero" by Colonel Bernt Balchen and Majors Corey Ford and Oliver LaFarge.

COLONEL BALCHEN

Colonel Balchen, who is credited with more hours over Arctic and Antarctic regions than any other pilot in the world, has been in charge of our base in Greenland since 1941. The idea of writing "War Below Zero" came to Balchen and Ford one day last summer when they were breakfasting in an Iceland hotel. It occurred to them that Americans might like to know what has been happening in that northernmost American air base. In like manner, Major LaFarge, who writes the second part of "War Below Zero," tells the story related to him by four air pilots, participants in one of the most spectacular episodes mentioned by Balchen and Ford.

Though only a little area of Greenland on the southern tip is habitable by anyone but Eskimos, it is one of the key regions in the world for strategy. For over southern Greenland the coming weather for Europe is made. Germany realized how necessary this information was and by 1941 had planted a fully equipped signal station above the Arctic Circle. Colonel Balchen was responsible for ousting the Germans.



The second part of "War Below Zero" is the story of a Flying Fortress which crashed on the Greenland Ice Cap, and so thrust nine men into the frozen midwinter without preparation or equipment. The last of these men were rescued five months later. Throughout the long weeks of the siege, they were kept supplied with food, with supplies, even with war news and letters, by planes that flew up from coast stations. This is a story of unbelievable courage and heroism, both of the men who did the waiting and those who finally brought the long wait to an end.

* * *

How much do you know about our Allies? "Meet Your Allies," edited by Nicholas Balint, tells pertinent facts about the history, the peoples, and the contributions to the war effort of each of the 36 countries now engaged in fighting facism. Illustrated with a hundred fine photographs, this is a valuable book for anyone who wants to know more about those who are fighting on our side.

* * *

Bette Davis, currently starring in "Mr. Skeffington," first became interested in doing the character of Mr. Skeffington's frivolous wife, when she read the novel as a Book-of-the-Month Club selection two years ago. It's said that when work first started on the Warner Bros. sets, there was a great deal of confusion because the typists, sending out notices insisted on calling the play, "Mrs. Skeffington." They figured that if Bette Davis was in it, it must be called after the part she played.

How to torture your neighbors

ONE OF THE liveliest forms of torturing your neighbors is to barbecue some meat out in the backyard (of course, if you're in a good barbecuing mood, you'll invite them over!). And it's a guaranteed way to add special enjoyment to a July meal. Here are a few suggestions which experienced barbecuers have found useful (remember that it's just about the same as indoor broiling, except that the heat comes from underneath):

Give barbecue flavor to meats by marinating them for several hours before cooking, in French dressing or a spicy barbecue sauce; or swab them with either while grilling the meat.

Breast of lamb is deliciously different, when barbecued (allow ½-lb. per person): season, and grill for about an hour or until done, turning often.

Steaks, spareribs, chicken and fish are other barbecue favorites, of course—but be patient in cooking each of them!

Barbecue ears of corn simply by removing silk and husks, and grilling for about 10 minutes, turning and brushing frequently with melted butter or margarine.

And here's a "salad-sauce" that goes with all barbecued meats and makes them taste extra good:

SALSA

|---|---|
| 1 medium onion | 2 tbsps. salad oil |
| 3 medium tomatoes | 1 tsp. salt |
| 1 large green pepper | ½ tsp. mustard |
| 2 tbsps. vinegar | ¼ tsp. celery seed |

Peel onion: wash tomatoes and remove stem end; wash pepper and remove seeds. Finely chop all vegetables. Add vinegar, oil and seasonings; mix well. Let stand a few hours to blend flavors. Makes about 2½ cups.

The Unusual From The Unused

I have some unused rice on hand;
Some cake and cookies too.
No person wants this "orphan" food.
Pray tell me what to do?

Today, far more than ever, left-over food is a problem. It seems doubly wasteful to cast it aside and yet it is consistently ignored until there is nothing else to do.

But this applies only in some homes. In others, the wise mothers have learned how easy it is to prepare delicacies from left-over cake, pudding, candy and other foods. Where father and the children express no interest in a little left-over rice pudding, they find themselves enthusing next day over a lemon rice delicacy that bears no resemblance to a "left-over." They call for second helpings and are disappointed if they are not forthcoming.

Here are two recipes for those who have read thus far and are interested in joining that group of women who are sincerely anxious to conserve foods — particularly when those saved portions may be turned into delicious, healthful, surprise desserts with little expense or effort:

Chocolate Crumb Rennet-Custard

1 package chocolate rennet powder
2 cups milk (not canned)
1 egg yolk, beaten
2 pieces stale chocolate cake (3" x 2½" x 2")

Break cake into 6 or 8 individual dessert dishes. Combine egg yolk and milk and warm slowly, stirring constantly. Test a drop on inside of wrist frequently. When COMFORTABLY WARM (110° F.) not hot, remove at once from heat. Stir rennet powder into milk briskly until dissolved — not over 1 minute. Pour at once, while still liquid, over cake in dessert dishes. Do not move until firm — about 10 minutes. Chill. When ready to serve, top with:

Meringue Topping

Beat 1 egg white and a few grains of salt until frothy and gradually add 2 tablespoons sugar, beating until stiff.

Lemon Rice Rennet-Custard

1 package lemon rennet powder
2 cups milk (not canned)
1½ cups cooked rice
¼ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons sugar
¾ teaspoon nutmeg

Mix rice, salt, sugar and nutmeg and divide among 6 or 8 dessert glasses. Warm milk slowly, stirring constantly. Test a drop on inside of wrist frequently. When COMFORTABLY WARM (110° F.) not hot, remove at once from heat. Stir rennet powder into milk briskly until dissolved — not over one minute. Pour at once, while still liquid, over rice mixture in the dessert glasses. Do not move until firm — about 10 minutes. Chill.

Note: Left-over rice pudding may be used in place of the rice mixture.

Inner Tubes Now Off Ration List

All tires are still rationed and all inner tubes are unrationed, Paul I. Nederman, district rationing executive for the Office of Price Administration, stated today to clarify the effect of recent changes in the tire and tube regulations.

"Persons who need new inner tubes no longer need apply to their local OPA board for a certificate but merely purchase the tube from their dealer as they did prior to rationing," he said.

"However," Nederman emphasized, "all types of tires are still on the rationed list and an OPA certificate is required for their purchase."

BUBBLE-DANCER — is U. S. war slang describing a dish washer. Even a dish washer has wartime duties. Yours is to work and buy more War Bonds in the 3rd War Loan.

That Good Old Standby

By Frances Lee Barton

RICE pudding has been, will be, is A satisfying dish.

It's very healthful, pleases all. What more can woman wish? Grandmother had her recipe Mother's was strictly new. Times change— and so do recipes So this one is for you.

Rice Pudding

1 package prepared vanilla cornstarch pudding; 2½ cups milk; 1 cup cooked rice; cubes of jelly.

Place pudding powder in saucepan. Add milk gradually, stirring constantly. Place over medium flame and cook until mixture comes to a boil and is thickened, stirring constantly. Fold in rice. Cool, stirring occasionally. Turn into dessert dishes. Chill. Garnish with cubes of jelly. Makes 6 servings.

Raisin Rice Pudding. Add ¼ cup raisins and ⅛ to ¼ teaspoon each nutmeg and cinnamon to pudding powder before cooking.

A "Happy Day" Recipe

By Frances Lee Barton

IT'S a happy day indeed, when your cake turns out to be light, fluffy and delicious. Guests pay compliments, hubby smiles his approval, and the kiddies plead for a second helping. Happy day, indeed!

That's why the recipe below is a "Happy Day" recipe for a "Happy Day" cake. Simple as can be. Easy on your ration coupons. But oh, how satisfactory!

Happy Day Cake

2¼ cups sifted cake flour; 2½ teaspoons double-acting baking powder; 1 teaspoon salt; 1½ cups sugar; ½ cup vegetable shortening; 1 cup milk; 2 eggs, unbeaten; 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Sift flour once, measure into sifter with baking powder, salt, and sugar. Have shortening at room temperature; stir just to soften. Sift in dry ingredients; add ⅔ of milk, eggs, and vanilla. Mix until all flour is dampened; then beat 1 minute. Add remaining milk, blend, and beat 2 minutes longer. (Time may be taken out to rest, but count only actual beating time.)

Turn into two 9-inch layer pans. Pans should be greased, lined on bottoms with waxed paper, and greased again. Bake in moderate oven (375° F.) about 25 minutes.

Note: If electric mixer is used, proceed as directed above, using low speed. Scrape down bowl and beater often during mixing.

THREE TO GO

A three-piece outfit to give maximum service on vacation is this Dude cotton ensemble of pink with navy stitching; halter-topped shorts, button-on skirt and bolero.

Sturdy denim playclothes are another choice, the all-in-one-piece "shortall" and separate shirts and shorts for real country roughing and at pin money prices.

Cotton dirndls for beach and village, and strapped, semi-backless dresses for getting the most sun anywhere outdoors are other vacation ideas.

Are you entitled to wear a "target" lapel button? You are if you are investing at least ten percent of your income in War Bonds every pay day. It's your badge of patriotism.
